

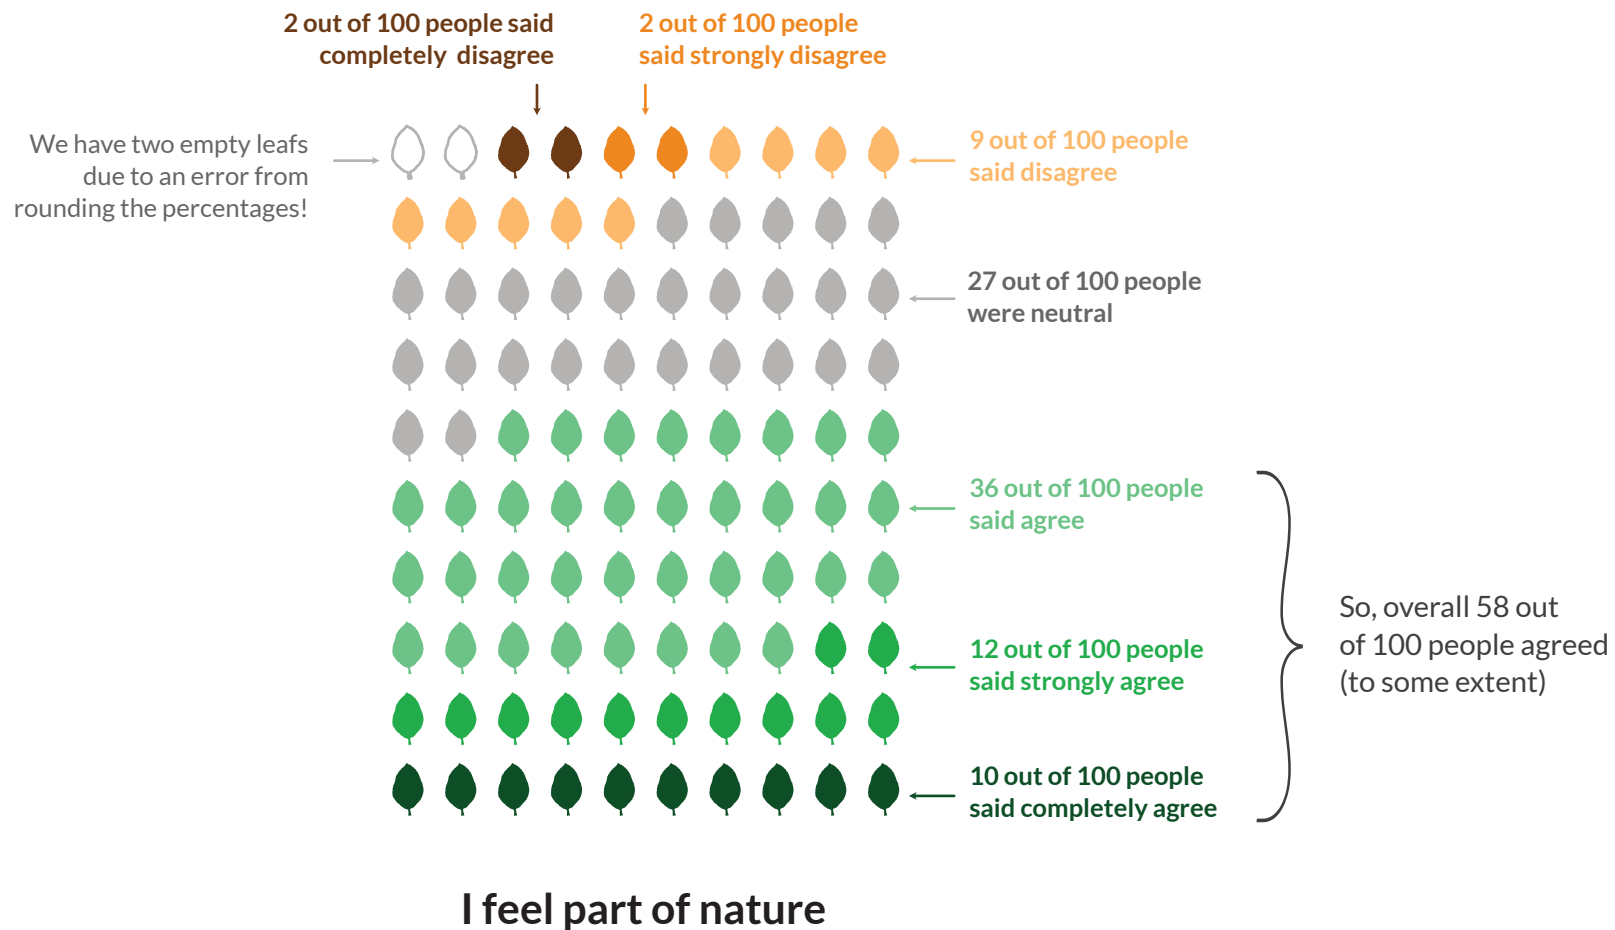

Figure 9: survey participants were also asked if they feel part of nature. They could respond completely agree, strongly agree, agree, disagree, strongly disagree or completely disagree. They could also provide a neutral response (either don't know or neither agree nor disagree). The proportions of people providing each response (as a number out of 100) are shown below.

Source: The People and Nature survey (2020/21), Natural England.